Lunabotics 2024 Award Winners

NASA’s Lunabotics started with 58 teams applying to the challenge and of those, 42 making it to the University of Central Florida’s Lunabotics Qualifying Event held at the Florida Space Institute’s Exolith Lab. From there the ten highest scoring teams moved to the Kennedy Space Center to complete the challenge, here are the results from the teams and their work.

Presentation and Demonstrations
Presentations and Demonstrations First Steps Award, Best Presentation by a First Year Team Harrisburg University of Science and Technology
Presentations and Demonstrations Award 3rd Place - University of Utah
Presentations and Demonstrations Award 2nd Place - Purdue University-Main Campus
Presentations and Demonstrations Award 1st Place - University of North Carolina at Charlotte

STEM Engagement
STEM Engagement Honorable Mention - Harrisburg University of Science and Technology
STEM Engagement Award 3rd Place - Iowa State University
STEM Engagement Award 2nd Place - Auburn University
STEM Engagement Award 1st Place - University of North Florida

Systems Engineering Award
Systems Engineering Paper Award 3rd Place - Purdue University - Main Campus
Systems Engineering Paper Award 2nd Place - The University of Alabama
Systems Engineering Paper Award 1st Place - College of DuPage
Systems Engineering Paper Award Leaps & Bounds Award - New York University
Systems Engineering Paper Award Nova Award for Stellar Systems Engineering by a First Year Team - Ohio State University

Innovation Technology Award - University of Illinois – Chicago
The Mission Control "Failure is Not an Option Award for Team Persistence"
University of Illinois – Chicago

Robotic Construction Award
Robotic Construction Award 3rd Place - University of Utah
Robotic Construction Award 2nd Place - The University of Alabama
Robotic Construction Award 1st Place - Iowa State University

The Caterpillar Autonomy Award
6th Place – Purdue University
5th Place – University of Illinois at Chicago
4th Place – Iowa State University
3rd Place – University of Utah
2nd Place – Vanderbilt University
1st Place – University of Alabama

The Artemis Grand Prize
First Ever Tie - Iowa State University & The University of Alabama

Thank you to all who made this happen, to the schools and to the Lunabotics teams. See you in 2025!